If you can trust us with your appendix, you can trust us with your beard.

The same people who make Personna stainless steel razor blades also make surgical blades.

More stainless steel surgical blades than anyone in the United States.

And, oh, are those surgeons fussy.

The teeniest, weeniest imperfection in a blade and you can feel the ground shake from here to Kookamonga Medical School.

We formed the habit of making surgical blades one way, and one way only.

Flawlessly.

And we make our new super stainless razor blades the same way.

If you like the shave we give you, just chalk it up to our experience with your appendix.
